Rockefeller Sees Win If Votes Counted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he had never heard any complaints from Republicans about irregularities in general elections.

Faubus made the statement in response to a statement by Winthrop Rockefeller who said on a television network interview Monday night that he could win the Arkansas governor's race if he could get the votes counted.

Faubus noted that the Republicans have the right to name one of the three election commissioners in each county and that they get to select a judge and a clerk for each polling place.

"Rockefeller is questioning the integrity of the officials selected by his own party members," Faubus said. "He also is questioning the integrity of the people of this state generally."

beyond this, Faubus said, he did not want to comment because a possible political campaign between himself and Rockefeller "is a long way off."

Rockefeller charged "irregularities at the polls" in the past, and said here Monday night that "We've got a file in my office and I could spend hours showing you the proof we have."

Tom Harper of Fort Smith, the Democratic national committeeman from Arkansas, said Rockefeller's charges were "a bunch of boloney."

Rockefeller, GOP national committeeman for the state, made the remarks from here on a program with Walter Cronkite in New York on the Columbia Broadcasting Co.'s evening news program.

He said on the program that the GOP has a "great responsibility to see that there are no irregularities (at the polls)."

Asked later about specific incidents, he said Arkansas Republicans have photostatic copies of ballots "cast by people in Michigan for elections in Conway County." That is Rockefeller's home county.

County Judge Wiley Bean investigated and ruled there were irregularities, but Bean also ruled that the irregularities were unintentional, Rockefeller said. The federal government said no federal laws were violated.

Rockefeller added that Conway County is not the only place where voting irregularities exist, and referred to his

Cold to Bring Clear Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cold front passing through Arkansas today will bring cooler temperatures tonight, but clear weather, the Weather Bureau predicted. The mercury is expected to drop to freezing in northwest Arkansas and to the mid 30s or low 40s elsewhere.

The Weather Bureau said all shower activity should end with passage of the front.

High readings Monday ranged from 78 in the Memphis area to 86 at Texarkana. Overnight low readings were from 48 at Fayetteville to 70 at Texarkana.

A high today of 62 in the northwest to 75 in the southeast is forecast.

High School Meet at Washington

The High School Division of Hempstead County Literary Meet will be held in the Washington Auditorium on Thursday, April 9 at 7:30 p.m.

A small fee of 10c will be charged to all persons except participants. The doors will be open at 7:00 p.m. to the public.

The schools participating in this division are: Spring Hill, Guernsey, Saratoga, and Blewins. There will be five divisions: Solo, Duet, Trio, Instrumental, and Choral. First, Second, and Third place winners will be announced at the conclusion of the program.

Hospital Operates on Mixed Basis

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Grady Hospital, a huge public medical complex, operated its emergency clinic on a racially integrated basis Monday night for the first time.

A hospital spokesman said the move, an efficiency measure in the works for three years, had been approved by the hospital staff and the Fulton County, DeKalb County and Atlanta Medical Associations.

The emergency clinic treats more than 150,000 patients each year, including 100,000 Negroes.

LBJ Called Beer Sipping Speeder

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine says President Johnson—with a paper cup of beer "within easy sipping distance"—gunned his cream-colored Lincoln Continental up a long Texas hill and the driver of an oncoming car veered off the road.

One passenger groaned, "That's the closest John McCormack has come to the White House yet," the magazine said.

Newsweek magazine carried a similar account of Johnson's driving over Easter weekend, when he gave newsmen and newsmen an impromptu tour of his ranch.

Asked about newspaper reports that he drove up to 90 miles an hour, Johnson told a news conference last week he was unaware he had ever exceeded Texas' speed limit of 70.

Time says Johnson took three newsmen and a male reporter in his Lincoln, while other reporters and photographers followed in five other Johnson-owned vehicles.

"The whole caravan jounced at high speeds across a pasture, zig-zagging around dung mounds and clusters of fat white-faced cattle," Time said.

Johnson blew the cow-like horn on his car at the cattle, and Time said one newswoman recalled he once gave "a very graphic description of the sex life of a bull."

Spotting a sow with a half dozen pigs, Time said, the President offered to pose for a photo with a pig if reporters could catch one—and "guffawed exuberantly" as the sow charged at the frightened photographers, as he knew it would.

Johnson finished his own cup of beer, Time said, refilled once from a newswoman's cup and sped off at 90 miles per hour for more.

Newsweek said that after the hill-passing incident, Johnson pulled up at a ranch house and asked "is the Secret Service still with us?" The magazine said the car with the security men in it had been left behind on the highway "caught behind cars Mr. Johnson had passed on the way."

True Many American Men Are Henpecked, Husbands Dominate Wives Sometimes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Just as many men today are henpecked so some wives are dominated by their husbands.

"They are, so to speak, 'rooster-pecked,'" While this flies into the face of the comfortable feminine theory that this has become a world of women, run by women, for women, it is nevertheless inescapably true.

Here and there landmark men still survive who are able to assert their authority over women—and I am not speaking merely of male hairdressers. I mean husbands who are able to dominate their wives, usually without the ladies in question realizing it.

It takes a great deal of Machiavellian cunning for a man to remain master in his own split-level castle in these times, but it can be done—and it is being done.

How can a wife tell if she is "rooster-pecked"? Well, her clever mate probably has outwitted her in the battle of matrimonial bossdom if—

He insists that she handle all the money in the family, then, when the household budget gets out of balance, instead of upbraiding her he turns upon her a face of insufferable forgiveness.

Although she is mistress of the purse, somehow he winds up at the end of the year with more new clothes than she does. He's the one who takes the kids to the circus, but she's the one who spans them when they need it.

She fixes the leaky faucets and repairs the vacuum cleaner because he has convinced her that he is, after all, just a bewildered small boy who never learned how to be handy around the house.

Every time he confesses helplessly, "Honey, I don't know what I'd do without you," she feels a fierce maternal urge to protect him even more.

He served her breakfast in bed the day after they came back from their honeymoon, but managed to botch the eggs and toast so badly that she has been getting up early to fix breakfast for them every day since.

She goes to the PTA meeting alone, because he brought home some work from the office that simply has to be done. After she leaves, he turns on the television set and watches the night baseball game.

He assures her so constantly what a wonderful wife and mother she is that she goes through life feeling guilt-ridden because she can't think up more ways to please him.

There, my friends, you have a husband-dominated wife.

Every good woman loves being ruled by a man—just so he's smart enough not to let her realize it.

Wisconsin Vote Could Be Significant

By PAUL CLIFFORD

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin voters choose today between their governor, John W. Reynolds, and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in a presidential primary that has evolved into a referendum on the federal civil rights bill.

Reynolds is running as a favorite son, pledged to cast Wisconsin's 46 votes in the Democratic National Convention for President Johnson.

The primary is the first test of the ability of Wallace, an uncompromising segregationist, to draw voter support in a Northern state.

Complicating the picture is the possibility of Republican participation in the Democratic contest.

State Election Supervisor Leo Fahey has predicted a million votes may be cast. This would

Winter Storm Tapers Off in Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wintry storm tapered off in the northern Plains and Rockies today after dropping 16-18 inches of snow in Montana but more rain splashed areas in the South and flood warnings were posted in parts of Alabama and Georgia.

As the snowstorm ended, colder air from Canada spread into northern border areas and headed into the central part of the nation. Heaviest snow was in Montana, between Helena and Great Falls. Strong winds caused much drifting and drifts up to seven feet were reported in central and northern Montana.

More than a foot of snow fell in mountain areas of Wyoming. Snow and snow mixed with rain spread across areas of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and northeast New Mexico.

Rain and showers hit the eastern Gulf states, much of the Atlantic states and in parts of Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Lower Michigan. Heaviest amounts were in the north Atlantic coastal areas.

Torrential rains drenched areas in Alabama and Georgia, sending some rivers out of their banks. Twenty-nine families were forced from their homes by the flooding of the Chattahoochee River in Cobb County, Ga. Alabama National Guardsmen were on a standby basis to help with evacuation of flood victims. Flash flooding was reported in Atlanta, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala.

Cudes Change Minds, Will Take Children Back Even If They Are All Vaccinated

MENA, Ark. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cude, who object to medical treatment on religious grounds, have changed their minds and will take back their children, even if they are vaccinated by the state.

Sheriff Bruce Scoggin took the three children from the Cudes Monday after the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled that the farm couple had no right to deny the children an education because of their religious beliefs.

School officials would not admit the children without vaccination against smallpox.

Cude had said he would not take the children back if they were vaccinated. But today Mrs. Cude said, "They're my children. I don't care if they're vaccinated or not." She said if the children were returned after vaccination, her husband also would take them back.

Chancery Judge Wesley Howard issued an order today transferring the Cude children from the custody of the sheriff to the Child Welfare Division of the State Welfare Department.

Howard told Scoggin to take them to Little Rock. He said the children will not be vaccinated for several days. They will first undergo orientation to allay any fear they might have against vaccination, Howard said. This also would allow Cude to ask the Supreme Court to rehear the case, and then appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, as his attorney has said he will do.

Meanwhile, in Little Rock, Gov. Orval E. Faubus stepped in. He said he would fight what he called a "dangerous, alarming precedent" set in the case.

Faubus conferred with Welfare Department personnel and said "Taking custody of children from their parents and their natural home as a means of gaining compliance with a rather simple law or school regulation seems to be using means that are far too drastic and alarming."

Faubus said he would confer with his attorney to see if he can ask the courts to relieve the Welfare Department of responsibility in the case. Beyond that, there appeared to be little he could do.

The children, Wayne, 12; Delia, 11, and Linda May, 8, spent Monday night at the sheriff's home and were still there today. Welfare Commissioner Jim Phillips said his department was waiting for county authorities to deliver them to Little Rock.

Faubus said he was not contending that the children should not be in school or that Cude had a right to violate a school district regulation requiring vaccination. But he said the schools should have permitted the children to attend while the case was in the courts. Cude said he doesn't object to his children going to school.

Faubus said the courts should have acted directly against Cude. "If there is a culprit, Mr. Cude is the logical and obvious offender," Faubus said. "He could be further punished."

Cude already has been fined three times because the children were not in school.

Faubus said he wanted to make it clear that he was not criticizing the Arkansas Supreme Court. "The court had to act on what was before it," he said. "It's just that I feel this whole thing could have been handled better."

When the sheriff first went to the Cude farm in extreme Western Arkansas Monday, the two girls fled to a wooded area and would not come back.

Scoggin found Cude and his son Wayne building a house on the farm of Cude's attorney, Nabors Shaw of Men. He persuaded Cude to give up the children.

Cude told Scoggin he would have them ready at 1 p.m., and when the sheriff arrived the children were dressed in fresh clothing with their belongings packed in one suitcase.

"I guess they'd already said their goodbyes," Scoggin said. "It's a tragic thing—their being denied a family—I've known their daddy for a long time. He's a mighty fine person but he has odd views on religion."

Scoggin said Monday night the children were taking "it good." He said he had been told he might have them for a day or two.

Mrs. Cude said Monday night she didn't feel good when she got up Monday morning and knew something would happen. She said her husband was taking the situation "pretty well," and added the family has been "led up to separation."

"Of the three children, only Wayne attended school. Judge Howard said he went for a year before teachers discovered he had not been vaccinated. The other five Cude children were not affected by the suit because they are too old or too young to be covered by the Arkansas compulsory school attendance law."

The children range in age from 1½ to 18.

Howard started the proceedings against Cude after he had been fined three times for not sending the children to school.

Howard said Cude was willing to send the children to school, but the school would not accept them without vaccination.

Mrs. Cude said she and her husband had a profitable furniture business in Houston, Tex., from 1945 to 1950, until Cude decided Houston was getting too large. They moved to the country to raise their family, she said.

It was only after they moved to Arkansas, she said, that Cude "found the Kingdom of Heaven."

Sources Say Soviets Pulling Men From Cuba

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informal sources said today the Soviet Union has been pulling its troops out of Cuba in considerable numbers.

U.S. officials confirmed this, but as usual declined to estimate how many Soviet military men still are in Cuba.

At the time of the Cuban missile crisis in October 1962 it was estimated that 22,000 Soviet troops many of them in organized combat units, were in Cuba. A number of them were technical experts in Cuba. A number of them were technical experts in the long-range weapons and other war gear Moscow has poured into Cuba to make it the most powerful military nation in Latin America.

Last October U.S. officials indicated that a report that the Soviet troop presence had dropped to less than 7,000 was a pretty fair guess. Presumably the current figure is somewhere around 4,000.

The most recent formal statement by a U.S. government agency on the Soviet troop situation in Cuba came in a nine-word observation all but buried in a State Department report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. It said: "Most Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the island."

McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Johnson on international security affairs, said in an interview on a radio and television show, ABC's "Issues and Answers" last Sunday that "there are very many fewer" Russian soldiers in Cuba now.

But he said it is a lot harder to count soldiers, "especially when they are in checked shirts," than it was to count missiles. He wouldn't want to pretend "that we know exactly how many" Soviet soldiers are still there.

Moscow Plans a Big Space Spectacular

MOSCOW (AP)—Yuri Gagarin said today he and other cosmonauts are training for new voyages into space.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced Soviet scientists have made important experiments with a new type of air for spaceships.

The twin announcements indicated the Russians are preparing for some new space spectacular.

The news conference was called in connection with the "day of the cosmonauts"—April 12—the third anniversary of the historic flight of Gagarin, the first man to orbit the earth.

Soviet space scientists also were on hand but they were mum.

Tass described experiments with synthetic air in pressurized cabins.

Tass said that nitrogen was taken out of the air and replaced by helium. Normally, nitrogen constitutes 78 per cent of the air a person breathes.

The new mixture has been tested, Tass said, on men who remained in pressure cabins for periods from 10 to 25 days.

Tass reported the helium produced a surprising result, that "a man with a bass voice began to speak tenor."

"This is not hazardous to health, but it does create additional difficulties," Tass said.

Brazil Moves Toward Quick Election

By ROBERT BERRELLE Z

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—The Brazilian Senate approved a bill early today calling for immediate congressional election of an interim president to serve the 20 months left of Joao Goulart's term.

With speedy approval of the bill expected in the Chamber of Deputies, the election appeared likely to take place Thursday. This was the target date reportedly set by the military leaders who overthrew Goulart and are anxious to restore the government before any new crises arise.

The constitution provides for the election to be held 30 days after the presidency is vacated.

Conservatives behind the coup are pressing for the election of Gen. Humberto Castelo Branco, army chief of staff and a leader of the revolt.

The constitution says a military man cannot be president, unless he quits active duty 90 days before a vacancy occurs. But it was felt that the presence of 9,000 troops who moved into Brasilia with armored units on Saturday would persuade congressmen to heed the military's wishes.

The dispatch with which the Senate drafted the new law and passed it, all within one day, indicated the military pressure on the lawmakers.

Brazilian banks and stock exchanges reopened Monday amid signs of new confidence in the nation's economy since the overthrow of Goulart, who was accused by conservative foes of planning to deliver Brazil to the Communists.

8 Giant Steel Firms Indicted for Conspiracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight giants of the steel industry were indicted today on charges of conspiring in secret hotel room meetings to fix prices in the multibillion-dollar steel sheet business.

A federal grand jury in New York City charged that the firms conspired to eliminate competition in the $3.6-billion industry, which accounts for a third of all finished steel mill production in the United States.

In doing so, the indictment charged, the corporations and two of their officials violated the Sherman Antitrust Act ban against restraint of trade.

The indictment grew out of an earlier grand jury investigation of the April 1962 attempt by leading steel companies to put into effect a $6-a-ton price increase on all steel products. Sharply rebuked by the Kennedy administration, the firms re-

British Actor Critically Ill

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—British actor Peter Sellers, 38, took a turn for the worse today after suffering a heart attack Monday. A spokesman at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital said his condition is considered critical.

The spokesman said complications developed early today as a result of shock and disturbance of the rhythm of Sellers' heartbeat.

At 4:30 a.m., he was transferred from his private room to an intensive care unit and another consultant was called.

The actor was stricken at his home with what the hospital first called a moderate heart attack.

Cotton Bill Looms Later This Week

The main fight will come, she said, on an amendment by Rep. Albert Que, R-Minn., which would require states to foot 50 per cent of the cost of the food stamp plan, which eventually would reach an estimated $360-million-a-year level.

Swede Going to Trial as Master Spy

By BRACK CURRY

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Col. Stig Wennerstrom goes on trial Saturday as a master spy accused of betraying Sweden's top defense secrets to the Soviet Union over a 15-year period.

A jury of nine, including five women, will decide his fate. The prosecution calls him Sweden's most dangerous spy in modern times.

It says he has confessed he sold Sweden's top defense secrets to the Soviets from 1948 until his arrest last June. He knew a lot about the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's defenses and weapons and presumably passed this on to Moscow but will be tried only for betrayal of Sweden.

The story that will unfold includes attendance at a Soviet spy school in Moscow while he served as Swedish air attaché there; a secret room in his lavish villa where he received radioed instructions from the Russians; and exchanges of microfilm rolls during handshakes with Russians at diplomatic receptions in Stockholm.

Wennerstrom moved from one key position to another. Each gave him access to all the information on Sweden's defense plans and its defense forces—and to some on NATO—that he wanted to see.

Although neutral Sweden is not a member of NATO he visited NATO military installations. He was friendly with many top Western diplomats here. From 1952 to 1957 he served as Swedish air attaché in Washington. The United States honored him with its Legion of Merit when he left.

Interrogators took a month to break down Wennerstrom's pleas of innocence. They say he confessed only when confronted with irrefutable evidence, including films of classified information which Wennerstrom's maid had found in his villa.

The trial is expected to last four weeks. The maximum sentence that he can draw is life imprisonment.

The 57-year-old colonel is confined in a special cell in Stockholm's police headquarters. He is under 24-hour watch by alternating teams of two guards in an adjacent room. The lights never are turned out in his cell.

He eats with a spoon. He is not permitted to use a knife or fork for fear of a suicide attempt. He is not allowed a belt or suspenders for the same reason.

He exercises on a rooftop that is covered by a net to prevent anything being thrown to him from adjoining buildings.

office file. Harper said Rockefeller has never proved anything, and "has got to talk about something."

"He doesn't have much else to talk about," Harper added. Rockefeller and the man who is expected to run against him in the November general election, Gov. Orval E. Faubus, met Monday night at a testimonial dinner for former Arkansas Congressman Brooks Hays.

Rockefeller said he thought Faubus would run. "The first thing I asked him when I saw him tonight was, 'What's new?'"

"Nothing," he said was Faubus' reply.

Faubus and other Democratic leaders could not be reached for comment.

Faubus said Monday it would probably be next week before he would announce if he would seek his sixth term.

Rockefeller said Monday night he thought he would beat Faubus based on the various polls he has taken and talks with people throughout the state, many of them lifetime Democrats who say they don't believe in a sixth term.

When Rockefeller, brother of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, announced his candidacy last Saturday, William L. Spicer, chairman of the state GOP executive committee, said Rockefeller would "absolutely not" have a united party behind him.

Spicer called Monday for another meeting of the state GOP committee to reverse some of the actions taken at a meeting Saturday. Rockefeller backers won in all committee actions.

Rockefeller's chief aide, Everett Hamm, said Monday that Rockefeller's entry into the governor's race will bring in "many, many local" GOP candidates.

Hamm said all five telephone lines in Rockefeller's office here have stayed busy since the announcement.

be 200,000 short of the record primary ballot, cast in 1960 when the late John F. Kennedy won a majority of Democratic delegates from Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

Cloudy skies with showers or snow flurries and temperatures in the 20s and 30s were forecast. A telegram from President Johnson describing Reynolds as "a patriot and a leader in whom we can all take pride" was read at a testimonial dinner for the governor Saturday night in Madison by Postmaster General John Gronouski. Gronouski, former state tax commissioner, returned to the state Friday to help Reynolds campaign.

White House press secretary George Reedy said Monday night in Washington the telegram was "solely and simply a Democratic fund-raising dinner, which as far as we were informed was being given in honor of the governor of Wisconsin."

The White House policy of not intervening in any primaries still stands, he said.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy also sent a message to the dinner, saying, "a substantial victory for Reynolds' slate will pay a deserved compliment to a great governor, but more important, it will bolster and reinforce those who are making the good fight for human dignity in the United States."

Wallace has campaigned on opposition to "the civil wrongs bill," his description of the civil rights proposal pending in the U.S. Senate.

There is no Republican contest. The party's 30 national convention delegates are headed by a favorite son, Rep. John Byrnes.

WHAT'S IN THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL?

(1) VOTING RIGHTS: Prohibits registrars from using different standards for whites and Negroes and requires that literacy tests be in writing. A person with a sixth-grade education is considered literate. The U.S. Attorney General can bring voting suits before special three-judge panels to speed action. Only federal elections are covered.

(2) PUBLIC ACCOMMODATIONS: Outlaws discrimination by refusal of service in hotels, motels, restaurants, service stations, theaters and sports arenas. Prohibits the practice of segregation required by state law or local ordinance. Persons denied access may sue for relief.

Stassen Discusses California Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Presidential candidate Harold Stassen says a vote for him in the California primary June 2 actually could be a vote for the four "middle ground" possibilities not on the ballot — Henry Cabot Lodge, Richard M. Nixon, William W. Scranton and George Romney.

Stassen said Monday: "I don't feel that California voters want to support either Barry Goldwater or Nelson Rockefeller," the only candidates besides Stassen on the California presidential primary ballot.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Government officials of India and Pakistan began a five-day conference today on Hindu-Muslim religious tension plaguing the countries. Hundreds of Moslems and Hindus have been killed in rioting since January.

RANGOON Burma (AP)—U.S. Information Agency libraries in Burma suspended operations today in compliance with a new law giving the Burmese government tighter control of foreign propaganda outlets.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the libraries in Rangoon and three other cities would reopen after registering under the new law.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Mao Tze-tung has promised again to come to Cambodia's help if the Indochinese nation is attacked, the official Cambodian press agency said today.

The Chinese Communist chairman gave the assurance in Peking to a Cambodian military delegation headed by Gen. Lon Nol, the defense minister.

TUNIS (AP)—The Long Ship, a copy of Viking vessels, ended its voyage to America in flames Monday. Six irate adventurers decided to burn it rather than turn it over to Tunisian authorities.

A pursuing boatload of Tunisian police and customs men did not interfere when Robert Marx, 29, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and his five European crewmen set fire to the 72-foot craft.

The Long Ship went down two miles off Bizerte, where Marx docked last week and tried to

Man Missing in Conway Old River

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Charles Thems, 26, of Jackson, Miss., was missing and presumed drowned Monday in back water in an old river bed about 10 miles west of here.

He worked for the Michael Baker Jr. Inc., engineering firm of Jackson, which was doing survey work for the Corps of Engineers.

Sheriff Joe Castleberry said Thems and three others walked across a roadway which was under about a foot and a half of water. Thems was sent back to get a rope and never returned.

The others said when they started looking for him the water over the roadway was about three feet deep and the current was swift. Thems was on his first day of work in the Conway area.

DOROTHY DIX

—HERE ARE WAYS, ETC.

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS
Dear Dr. Brothers: I'm an executive in a big firm, and I'm constantly embarrassed when I find myself biting my nails at conferences, or when talking to big customers.

I've tried again and again to break the habit, but always failed.

My wife has the habit of pulling at her hair when she's excited or disturbed, and my 16-year old son has developed the habit of digging his finger into his ear and working out the wax. There must be some way that we can change our bad habits. —H. S.

Dear H. S.: We are all creatures of habit. In your family it's nail-biting, hair-pulling, and ear-digging. Habits are not permanent. Habit is usually a way of coping with a situation that you've learned. A set pattern of behavior that you've taught yourself. It can be unlearned once you know how.

You've learned the habit, because at the time it seemed to give you satisfaction, or served a purpose.

What sometimes happened is this: A habit learned to satisfy a need becomes a need itself.

Your nail-biting probably started as a way of reducing tension due to some underlying cause, usually during childhood. Chances are that those tensions and causes have vanished by now, but your nail-biting continues, merely because the pattern has been fixed.

Perhaps all you need is a little push or self-starter to snap you out of the habit.

Having a strong enough reason to quit a bad habit often works. In one case, a mother promised her 15-year-old daughter an expensive manicure set, if the girl would stop biting her nails for two weeks. That was enough to do the trick.

Probably that wouldn't apply to you, but you might try it on your son. Promise him something he wants most if he'll stop digging into his ear for a month or so. Nagging, argument, or reasoning doesn't help. Instead, modern psychologists have come forth with ingenious methods for discarding unwanted habits.

One of these is called the negative practice technique. I'll explain this by taking the case of the typist who's picked up the habit of typing "h-t-e" for "the." Though she practices "h-t-e," the mistake recurs. There's no tension, and plenty of reason to improve. What can she do about it?

The remedy lies in a conscious awareness that you're about to do the wrong thing just before you actually do it, whether it's typing the wrong way, or biting your nails. This awareness is achieved by practicing the wrong habit while consciously realizing it is wrong. The typist, therefore, can practice "h-t-e" while telling herself that this is the wrong way to hit the keys.

The negative practice was demonstrated in an experiment by Dr. Max Smith. He took 57 students who were habitual nail-biters, and asked them to stand before their bathroom mirrors while they went through the motions of biting their nails, without actually biting them. During the pantomime, they repeated this statement to themselves, "This is what I'm supposed not to do."

The process continued for half a minute. Then they returned to other activities. After an hour, they were back before the mirror for another negative practice session.

Result: After two months, nearly two-thirds had broken the habit or improved.

If the tension released by nail-biting still exists, try chewing gum, or conditioning yourself to clasp your hands tightly whenever you're tempted to chew your nails. Some psychologists contend that the best way to get rid of a bad habit is to form a new, good one to take its place. With your son, after he's treated the problem with negative practice, he can start building up a positive one by saying to himself, "I'm going to keep my hand quietly in my lap. It's relaxing, and cannot irritate people." Each time he sits down, he should deliberately look to see that his hands are resting calmly in his lap. In time, this new substitut habit will be formed. This should also work with your wife's hair-pulling.

Tomorrow: When a woman marries a younger man.

Nixon, Lodge Play Contest of Shadows

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The faint outlines of what might become a shadow contest between Henry Cabot Lodge and Richard M. Nixon are beginning to appear in the California presidential primary campaign.

Neither Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, nor Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, is on the ballot in the June 2 contest.

But one or the other could become the eventual beneficiary of the outcome of the battle between Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the state's 86 presidential nominating votes. Former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen also is on the ballot.

If Rockefeller wins the primary most of the Republican pros think this will keep the New York governor in the running but will fall short of convincing the convention he ought to be the nominee.

If it becomes apparent that Rockefeller can't make the grade, the belief is mounting that a majority of any delegation committed to him would be likely to gravitate to Lodge particularly if the 1960 vice presidential nominee wins the May 15 Oregon primary.

If Goldwater wins California's 86 votes, they would boost him to a commanding lead on the first convention ballot. While the Goldwater might be difficult to head off, favorite sons and other candidates appear likely to take out enough votes to deny him a quick nomination.

Goldwater has indicated that

Adds to Victories

PAU, France (AP)—Jimmy Clark, world auto racing champion from Scotland, added the Grand Prix of Pau to his string of victories Sunday by driving a Lotus over a twisting, hilly course at an average speed of 66.24 miles per hour.

If he can't win the nomination—and he doesn't concede anything on this score—he would be more inclined to throw his weight behind Nixon than any other candidate.

He has talked vaguely about Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania but now seems less interested in him. The Rockefeller people probably could accept Scranton, too, but so far the Pennsylvania governor hasn't sparked major national support.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Reiner is a bright, funny fellow and many viewers would enjoy his work if he were—as they say—reading the listings from the phone book.

The sad truth is that Reiner would have been in much better performing shape Sunday night if he had been reading the phone book. He turned up as major domo of a new CBS panel show called "The Celebrity Game."

There was not much game but there sure was a passel of Hollywood celebrities—nine on one panel. They were called upon for yes and no answers to such weighty questions as "Do you think European actresses have more sex appeal than American?" and "Do women fall in love faster with a man with money?"

A panel of three studio contestants had to guess how the stars voted. The going was heavy and very slow.

Even so it was considerably more spritely than the other new panel show which followed it on CBS. This was something called "Made in America," billed as "the program that will prove this is truly a land of opportunity." It proved something, but not that.

This time the panel held only three celebrities and Hans Conried was host. The panel's job was to guess, with the help of clues, the product with which each of three millionaires made his — or her — fortune.

CBS obviously had some second thoughts about the sorry pair of shows with which it is filling the vacant "Judy Garland Show" hour. It abruptly switched order of the shows late Friday and put Conried, originally on the panel, in as host at the last minute of "Made in America."

All three major networks were well prepared Sunday with film biographies and handsome tributes to General Douglas MacArthur. ABC got its program on the air first in the late afternoon, followed by CBS an hour later. NBC put on its special MacArthur memorial in the late evening.

Wallace to Run in Some More States

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace's Wisconsin primary election bid highlights a week of political activity that also will include selection in three other states of delegates to the national nominating conventions.

Wallace, challenging the Johnson administration's civil rights program, goes up against Gov. John W. Reynolds, a favorite son, in Tuesday's Wisconsin primary. Delegates representing 30 Republican and 46 Democratic votes will be chosen.

North Dakota Republicans meet Wednesday to choose 14 delegates. Kansas Democrats will complete their 24-vote delegation and Kentucky Republicans choose their 27 delegates at state conventions Saturday.

President Johnson took his first public hand in the Wisconsin contest Sunday night. In a message to Reynolds, he called the Wisconsin governor "a patriot and a leader in whom we can all take pride" and said "I salute John Reynolds for his unceasing concern for the well being of all the people in his state."

Another message came from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who said a successful campaign by Reynolds would "bolster and reinforce those who are making the good fight for human dignity in the United States."

At his news conference Saturday, Johnson was asked to comment on what effect he thinks the vote Wallace might receive in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland could have on the civil rights situation.

He replied: "I think the people of those states will give their answer at the time designated. I don't care to speculate or anticipate it."

An expected slam-bang contest between the major announced Republican presidential candidates failed to develop in Wisconsin when a favorite son movement developed behind Rep. John Byrnes. A slate pledged to him is the only one entered in the GOP primary.

Lack of a contest may encourage some Wisconsin Republicans to vote in the Democratic contest. GOP leaders are urging Republicans to stay out of the Democratic battle.

Wallace has been campaigning against the Johnson administration civil rights bill now before the Senate. Political leaders of both parties will be watching closely to see what impact the legislation may have

Humor Does It

An applicant for a job as housemaid was being interviewed by an employment agent and was asked if she had any preference as to the kind of family she would like to work for. "Any kind," she said, "except highbrows."

"You don't like working for highbrows?" "No, I don't," she said, "I worked for a pair of 'em once — him and her was fighting all the time and it kept me running back and forth from the keyhole to the dictionary 'till I was worn to a frazzle." — Philnews

Change of Venue in Murder Case

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The retrial of Hot Springs, Ark. native Leslie Douglas Ashley for murder has been transferred to Wharton County, Texas by Criminal Dist. Judge Miron A. Love.

Love made the transfer on his own motion and over the objection of Ashley's attorney. Love said he ordered the change of venue as a result of widespread news coverage of the case and because there exists in Harris County a great prejudice against Ashley.

Ashley, 26, was granted a reprieve from the electric chair last year when a federal appeals court ordered a new trial.

He was convicted along with Carolyn Ann Lima of the 1961 sex party slaying of Fred A. Tones, 44, a Houston realtor. Miss Lima also was granted a reprieve and received a five year sentence in her retrial. Dist. Judge Thurman M. Gorton, who will preside at Wharton, said the case may be heard in May.

Says Cotton, Wheat Bill Must Pass

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas congressman said Sunday that unless the House passes the Senate-approved wheat-cotton bill wheat farmers will lose about $600 million this year and cotton farmers will suffer an "incalculable" loss.

Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., chairman of the House Agricultural Wheat Subcommittee, said the cotton farmer loss will be from increased inroads by synthetic fibers.

The cotton portion of the bill, which has strong administration backing, provides subsidies to the textile industry to allow it to sell its products domestically at the lower world price.

A House vote is expected Wednesday on the proposal. Purcell said in a newsletter that he is "hesitantly optimistic" about the bill's prospects. The fate of the cotton-wheat bill is considered linked to that of the administration's food stamp plan, also due for a vote this week. The administration hopes that rural congressmen will help push the food stamp plan through and that urban representatives will then respond by favoring the cotton-wheat bill.

"This week's vote will likely decide the future of cotton and wheat programs for the 1964 crop," Purcell said, because any legislation, to be effective, must be enacted this month before crops are fully planted.

Purcell said that unless the House approves the Senate's wheat amendments there will be no bill because the Senate is too occupied with the civil rights bill to consider any further agriculture legislation soon.

Light Snow Veils Ruins of Alaska

Editor's Note—Murlin Spencer chief of the Seattle bureau of The Associated Press, has known and worked with Alaskans for 18 years. He flew to Anchorage the day after the earthquake and helped cover the dramatic and tragic story. This is his impression 10 days later.

By MURLIN SPENCER

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) —Ten days after one of history's worst recorded earthquakes smashed this beautiful city on Cook Inlet, a visitor seeing it for the first time might exclaim:

"Why this isn't so bad. The reports were exaggerated."

In the aftermath, a light snow veiled—even if it did not conceal—the rubble shoved back from the streets.

The snow fell lightly on park-clad troops standing guard around the hardest-hit areas on Fourth Avenue and at Turnagain Bluff where luxury homes slid into the sea.

But it could not cover the stark realism of the J.C. Penney Co.'s new store, which stands cold and silent, a huge wall blasted away as if by a bomb.

It could not hide huge apartment and office buildings that stand empty, their occupants listed among the "quake refugees."

There is optimism here, combined with a fantastic display of the cooperation and brotherliness for which Alaskans long have been noted.

But there is also real concern for the future of Anchorage, Valdez, Seward and other quake damaged areas.

The stimulating excitement which sustained the 88,000 residents of this area in the first days after the quake has passed.

Today they face the cold, hard

Three Charged at Spa for Gambling

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Ellis Agre, operator of The Palms here, and two others were arrested Saturday night and charged in connection with illegal gambling.

Police Chief John Erney said Agre was charged with operating a gambling house, a felony; and Mrs. Charles Beilstein of Hot Springs and C. W. Wells Jr. of Little Rock were charged with gaming, a misdemeanor.

Erney said periodic checks would be made to make sure the casinos complied with Gov. Orval E. Faubus' order to close. Erney said the casino at The Palms was closed, but that Agre, Wells and Mrs. Beilstein were inside.

fact that they sustained a major disaster.

Anchorage stood up with great courage in its hour of trial.

The city moved swiftly to restore services. Electricity for lights and heating was back amazingly fast.

Telephone service, too, was restored, but for days facilities were overtaxed by frantic relatives trying to call in and Anchorage residents trying to call out to reassure them.

Water was soon available for washing. But it took time to clear it for drinking in all areas of the city. Hundreds of Anchorage men, women and children have felt the sting of the antityphoid needle.

Just as quickly as guards were removed from the major damage areas, storekeepers moved in, swept out glass and debris and, if they could, opened up again for business.

If they could not stay in the same location, they sought others and were delighted if they could find a vacant storehouse in which to set up shop.

Of great importance and significance is the fact there has been no mass exodus from Anchorage.

TERRIFYING TORNADOES -- No. 3

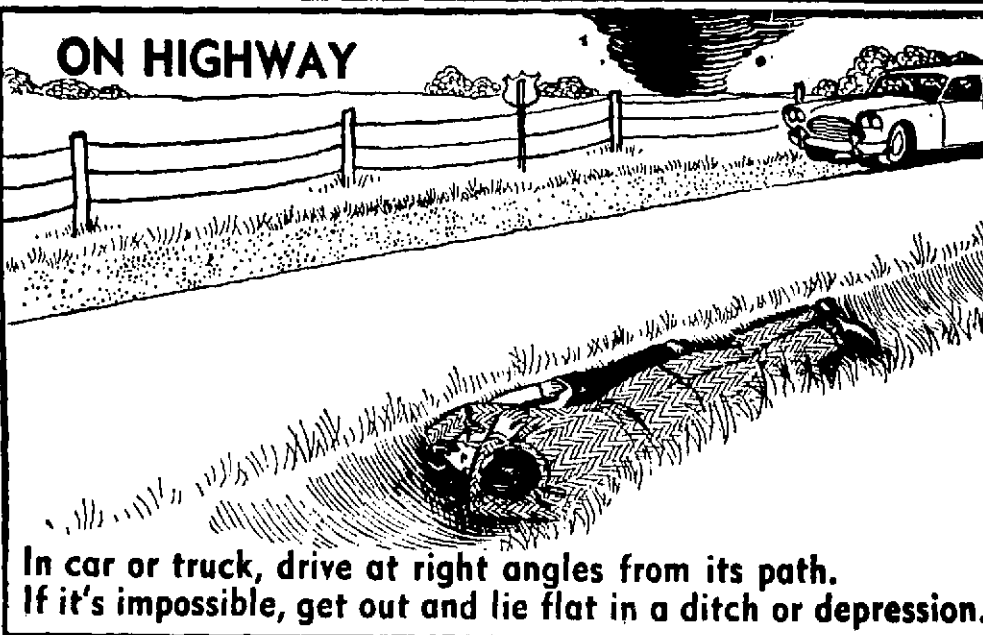

General Safety Rules

- Don't call weather bureau unless reporting tornado.
- Stay away from windows.
- Try to stay calm.
- Stay out of streets.
- Keep tuned to radio or television for reports.

HOW TORNADO ALLEY WORKS:

From mid-February to the end of September, the Air Weather Service sends out mobile units. During Phase I—from start to mid-May—these units are placed in vital areas. During Phase II—from mid-May to end—these units are moved to other areas. These units together with static electricity locating units, SFERICS, (from "atmospherics") work jointly with Severe Storms Center at height of season.

ON HIGHWAY
In car or truck, drive at right angles from its path. If it's impossible, get out and lie flat in a ditch or depression.

AT HOME

Open doors and windows on side away from storm.

Go to basement and stick close to southwest wall. Stay under heavy furniture if possible.

If no basement, stick close to wall toward storm or go out and lie in a ditch.

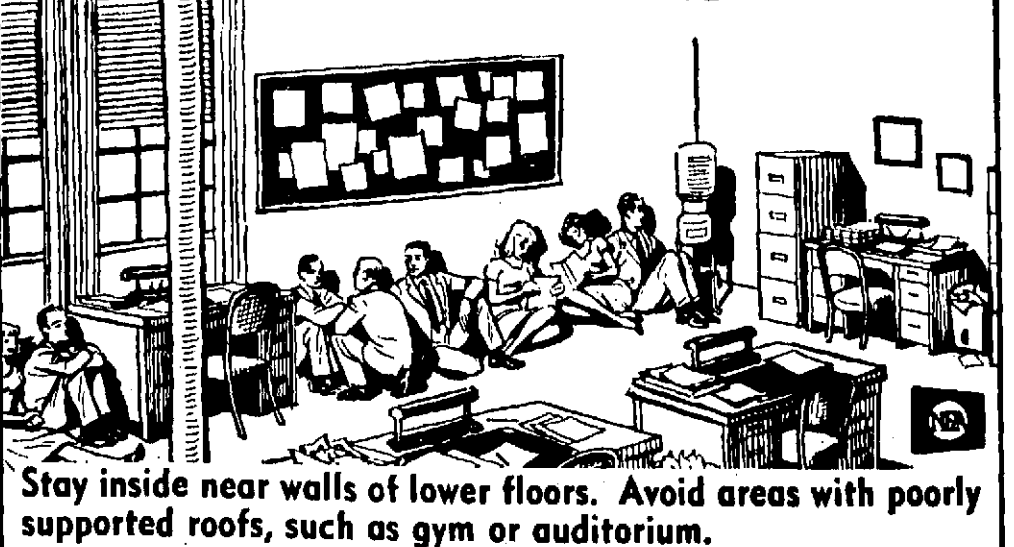

ON FARM

Head for storm shelter.

IN SCHOOL OR OFFICE BUILDING

Stay inside near walls of lower floors. Avoid areas with poorly supported roofs, such as gym or auditorium.

XXXII

Soon as the grub was cooked Medders stomped out the fire, and after they had eaten he climbed a rock point and stared out over the darkening landscape, finding nothing to alarm him though he watched for half an hour.

Then Charlie, counting noses, came up one short. Pock-faced, big-nosed Walker was missing. Medders whirled to look for Belita. Already afoot and moving toward him, she called: "What's wrong?"

He spun away without answering, running toward the mules, slowing as he saw their heads come up, stopping when one of them snorted.

He heard the girl stop behind him while his eyes combed the shadows, heard the mule grunt again. "Walker!"

The guttural bark of a laugh fell out of the murk. A deeper blackness took shape and moving nearer became unmistakably the man he was seeking. "What you want?"

"Thought you might be gittin' ready to slope."

"Me check mule." The Papa-

"What'd he have to be scared of?"

The pock-nosed Walker with an elaborate shrug mumbled something in Papago about lost spirits and Ancient Ones and, folding his arms, relapsed into silence.

Medders knew enough about those Ancient Ones—the people who had been on this land before the Papagoes—to know this educated schoolboy was giving him the runaround. But short of working him over Apache-style—and he didn't for a minute reckon the girl would stand for that, there wasn't no way he could dig the truth out of them.

He aimed, of course, for the new stamps at Charleston, recently installed by the Tombstone Mining & Milling Company. Once he had the mills' receipt they could jog over to Tombstone, pick up and cash the Company's check, get rid of the extra mules and break up. With the Weeping Widow gutted of ore Belita, like enough, would be off to manana land; he thought perhaps he might ride along, as far anyways as Naco. In that border town a man could thumb his nose at Jones with impunity.

There was a considerable attraction to this picture of Naco, but first they would have to get the ore to Charleston and, while a dash straight through the mountains would be quickest in the hope of cutting out a few of the risks he'd about decided to drop south and take the Sonolita Creek route when chancing to brush against one of the waterskins, he went as suddenly stiff as though a diamondback rattler had reared up in his path. He stood, damp with sweat, finally reaching back a hand. That skin had scarcely 10 swallows left in it!

Although, like the Papagoes, he'd spent the whole night on his feet, he had not been conscious of thirst until now. His own canteen, strapped over his shoulder, was practically full, but the next waterskin he felt of was empty—and the next. With the schoolboys watching he ran to another. It was still a little clammy where the water had leaked away.

The slit it had leaked from

Ready for Talks With Panama

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's nomination of Jack Hood Vaughn as ambassador to Panama is expected to reach the Senate by midweek, and the onetime boxer is "rarin' to go."

Johnson told a news conference Saturday that Vaughn, now director of the Peace Corps' Latin-American operation, will be on his way to Panama "just as soon as he can be confirmed by the Senate."

No difficulty is anticipated, and Vaughn, who has been holding his breath for three months, then will head for his "second home."

Vaughn, 43, who boxed both as an amateur and as a professional, was ticketed for the Panama assignment last January when it appeared the United States and Panama might be able to maintain diplomatic ties although bloody rioting had broken out in the Canal Zone.

But the two countries broke relations, and they were not resumed until Saturday.

The post of ambassador has been vacant since President John F. Kennedy accepted the resignation of Joseph S. Farland in August. Farland reportedly disagreed with the late President's policies.

Just before his death, Kennedy had announced he intended to nominate Frank Coffin, a foreign aid official, as ambassador, but President Johnson did not follow through.

Johnson stressed at his news conference that the United States is much concerned with the "serious problems" of the hemisphere. He said Washington is doing everything it can to deal with the "ancient enemies of mankind—disease and illiteracy."

His attitude was one of obvious satisfaction. "This has been a good week for this hemisphere," he declared.

The President referred specifically to Panama and Brazil. In the first instance, he said, "we are encouraged by the developments." In the second, the overthrow of leftist President Joao Goulart of Brazil, Johnson said "we are glad that the transition in Brazil has been constitutional."

Spring Storms Threaten State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spring storms threaten Arkansas through Friday and the state is likely to get up to two inches of rain in local showers, the Weather Bureau said today.

The forecast calls for the possibility of thunderstorms and thundershowers in all sections of the state through Friday night.

Showers started sweeping eastward across the state early today.

High temperatures Wednesday were in the balmy 70s in most sections. Low readings today were mostly in the 60s.

High readings from the mid 70s to low 80s are predicted to

Something Special About Spare Tire

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - There must be something special about the spare tire owned by R. Neal Box of Louisville. It was stolen Thursday, he reported the theft to police Friday and they returned it Saturday after arresting two suspects.

Box said he was certain the trunk was locked when the tire was taken, but he made a special note of locking it when he replaced the tire.

It was missing again Sunday.

Russian Women Win First Game

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) - Russia's women's basketball team, defending world champions, opened a five-game U.S. tour Monday night by overwhelming the Wayland College Flying Queens 78-36.

The Russian women took the lead with three minutes gone, upped it to 15-4 in the next seven minutes and led 31-19 at the half. They picked up the pace in the final period and had a 31-point margin at one point.

Tempers Flare in Hockey Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tempers may flare in Detroit tonight if the red-necked Red Wings are half as mad at the Chicago Black Hawks as they are at referee Frank Udvari.

The veteran official took a verbal beating from Detroit Coach Sid Abel Monday as the Wings and Hawks prepared for the sixth game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal series. Detroit, trailing 3-2, is a step away from oblivion but the Red Wings have a ready-made capegoat in Udvari if they fail to force Chicago into a deciding seventh game.

Abel accused Udvari of "choking up" when he allowed a disputed Chicago goal in the Hawks' 3-2 victory last Sunday. He called the official's decision "ridiculous" and

Frank Breathes Fire But Alston Breathes Easier

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant dragon, is breathing fire again and that means that Walt Alston, manager of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, can breathe just a little bit easier.

Howard, whose hulking 6-foot-7 form was conspicuously absent from the Dodger training camp for most of the spring, turned up last week and the flimsy Los Angeles attack hasn't been the same since.

The giant-sized outfielder stroked two more hits Monday night as Los Angeles whipped the New York Yankees 5-1 in an exhibition game. It brought his spring production to six hits in 15 appearances for a .400 average.

Personal problems kept Howard out of the Dodger camp until last week and without his bat the Dodger attack was somewhat on the skimpy side. Howard's lifetime slugging average of .512, tops among the Dodgers and ninth best among active players, adds a needed punch to Alston's cast.

Howard's hitting shared the spotlight with Sandy Koufax' pitching. The Dodger ace hurled six strong innings, allowing five hits and striking out six.

Komives Is Leading in Cage Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—Howard (Butch) Komives, Bowling Green's hot-handed backcourt ace, is the major college basketball scoring champion.

The 6-foot-1 senior fired at a 36.7 points-per-game clip-third highest average in history—and headed a record list of seven collegians with averages of better than 30 points per game, according to final statistics released today by the NCAA.

Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, last year's No. 1 scorer, finished second this season with a 33.2 mark.

Manny Newsome, Western Michigan, 32.7; Bill Bradley, Princeton, 32.3; Rick Barry, Miami, Fla., 32.2; Gary Braddis, Ohio State, 30.6, and Steve Thomas, Xavier, Ohio, 30.0, completed the 30-point club.

Komives vaulted from 45th position a year ago to the top spot. He capped his college career with a record 50 straight free throws in his last five games.

Only Frank Selvy, former Furman star, and ex-Utah gunner Bill McGill finished with higher season averages. Selvy averaged 41.7 points per game in 1954 and McGill posted a 39.3 mark in 1952.

A pair of team records fell. Detroit's 96.1 scoring average erased the mark of 95.8 set by Morehead State in 1956. Davidson shot .544 from the floor, eclipsing the field goal accuracy record of .521 held by Auburn's 1960 team.

Terry Holland of Davidson led the individual marksmen with a .631 percentage. Tulsa's Rick Park missed only 13 of 134 foul shots for a winning .903 percentage in free throw accuracy.

Liston Hasn't Been Suspended

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston hasn't been suspended by the World Boxing Association. But he can't fight to regain his crown until he is reinstated to the WBA's ratings.

Ed Lassman, WBA president, said Monday night that Liston had been dropped from the ratings because of a police charge pending in Denver. He is accused of carrying a concealed weapon.

The WBA said in a Monday release of ratings that "former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston was removed from the ratings due to his indefinite suspension."

However, Lassman said later, "Liston is not suspended; he is simply removed from the ratings."

Lassman said a correction would be made in next week's WBA bulletin.

He said that Liston, though not suspended, could not be considered a contender for the heavyweight title until placed back on the WBA standings.

Lassman said if Liston "makes an appeal to come back and behaves himself," he was sure WBA members would consider reinstating him on the ratings.

Smokie Hurler Blanks Travs

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Phil Regan, a frontline Detroit starter last year, warmed up his arm as a Knoxville Smokie Monday and blanked the Arkansas Travelers 4-0 on four hits.

Regan also helped end a deadlock by doubling in two runs in the Knoxville. Another Detroit player, catcher Bill Freehan, doubled in the same inning.

Rookie pitchers Richard Beck and John Morris held Knoxville scoreless in the first six innings and Traveler pitcher Bill Wilson was hit for the four late runs.

Musial Has Gained Pound Since 1930s

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The man who will be the new administrator for President Johnson's Council on Physical Fitness hasn't gained a pound since he lettered in three sports at Syracuse University in the 1930s.

St. Louis University athletic director, J. Robert Stewart, accepted the offer of the administrative job from Physical Council boss Stan Musial. Stewart flew to Washington Monday night to meet with Musial, who was appointed by the President Feb. 14th to head the council.

"I'm glad to get the job," said the 47-year-old Stewart, who weighs 190 pounds, and keeps his weight down by playing handball with such men as St. Louis Cardinal first baseman Bill White.

St. Louis University has been good to me," the amiable native of Rochester, N.Y., said. "But the new job is a challenge and an upgrading. I believe I can meet the challenge."

Stewart lettered in football, basketball and soccer at Syracuse before he graduated in 1939. He coached in high schools at Syracuse and Rochester, N.Y., before becoming associate athletic director of Michigan State University. He conducted a combat fitness program while he was in the Navy in the mid-50s. Stewart became athletic director of St. Louis U. in 1958.

Under Stewart, St. Louis University's Billikens have taken the NCAA soccer championships three out of the last four years and last year the Billikens won the Missouri Valley Conference baseball championships.

Believes Five Teams Will Press Yankees

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Chicago, Baltimore, Minnesota and Detroit will press the defending champion New York Yankees in a five-way American League pennant fight, President Joe Cronin believes.

His reasoning: All four show marked improvement while the Yankees, seeking their 14th flag in 16 years, have stood still.

The 64th campaign opens next Monday with Los Angeles in Washington. Cronin made his remarks Monday on the basis of his observations at Florida spring training camps.

"I can't predict a 10-team race as much as we would hope for one," Cronin said. "I pick the White Sox, Orioles, Twins and Tigers as the leading challengers to the Yankees because each has decidedly improved."

"The Yankees are still the Yankees."

Their defense is as good as ever under new Manager Yogi Berra. But I didn't see Mickey Mantle step out. He's still favoring the knee on which he had the operation. Roger Maris wasn't doing much.

"The biggest New York concern is pitching—namely solid help for Whitey Ford, Jim Bouton and Al Downing. The problem is not the eight men on the field, it's on the mound and in the bullpen."

The Cronin analysis of the four challengers:

Chicago—"Al Lopez is the most optimistic manager down there. In switchhitting Don Buford up from Indianapolis, the White Sox have a mature, 27-year old rookie second baseman who can fly and made the trade of Nellie Fox possible. The Sox have good speed and more pitching help in the big rookie, Fritz Ackley."

Baltimore—"Hank Bauer has instilled a lot of aggressiveness in the lineup. He's got the club hustling. I think shortstop Luis Aparicio is in for a really great year. Bauer is making him the take-charge guy and Aparicio is taking hold very well. He's the one who runs in to the pitcher now."

Minnesota—"The team has a lot of tools. It is more mature now and looks the part. I was impressed by that young pitcher, Jerry Arrigo. Sam Mele is looking better at second. Zoilo Versalles is just terrific at short, continually making the big plays."

Detroit—"The line-up is much better looking with Jerry Lumpe at second base. He has helped Dick McAuliffe immeasurably. Don Demeter and Billy Bruton help in the outfield. Al Kaline wasn't hitting well this spring but that's no cause for concern because everyone knows what he can do. A great deal depends on the bat of Norm Cash and pitching."

The race—"I think it will be better as a result of the Dodgers beating New York in the World Series. Some of the teams who thought the Yankees were invincible may change their thinking."

Playoffs to Resume in Pro Ranks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Defense, a word seldom heard around the National Basketball Association, plays a major role tonight as the Boston Celtics seek an unprecedented four-straight sweep in the Eastern Division finals against the Cincinnati Royals.

The Celtics, who dropped seven of 12 regular season games with the Royals, have unleashed a tenacious defense in sweeping the first three games of the series. Cincinnati, held to a top production of 92 points, seems doomed even with an apparent return to form by ailing Jerry Lucas and Oscar Robertson.

Red Auerbach, the Celtics' coach, is elated with the Boston performance. He called Sunday's victory, "one of the greatest defensive efforts I've ever seen."

In the Western Division final, the St. Louis Hawks and San Francisco Warriors resume their series Wednesday with the Hawks carrying a 2-1 margin.

Don't count Wilt Chamberlain and the Warriors out of it. Though their 35-point victory Saturday night was also a study in defense with the Hawks managing just 85 points. A repeat performance would bring the Warriors right back in the thick of things.

Porks to Open Spring Training

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas opens spring football training Wednesday with 22 lettermen expected to report.

Another letterman from last year's squad, wingback George Walker, will not report because of injuries that may keep him from playing football this fall.

Coach Frank Broyles said that he plans to return to the three-unit system which the new rules make possible.

One new member of the coaching staff will be on hand for Wednesday's workout. He is Johnny Majors, a former Tennessee football star, who replaced Doug Dickey. The latter resigned to go to Tennessee as head coach.

Red Auerbach, the Celtics' coach, is elated with the Boston performance. He called Sunday's victory, "one of the greatest defensive efforts I've ever seen."

In the Western Division final, the St. Louis Hawks and San Francisco Warriors resume their series Wednesday with the Hawks carrying a 2-1 margin.

Williams Trying to Save Rating

HOUSTON (AP)—Cleveland Williams tries to protect his World Boxing Association rating against unranked Tommy Fields of Los Angeles tonight in a 10-round heavyweight match.

Williams is an overwhelming favorite. He weighs 217½ pounds to about 192 for Fields and also carries a decided edge in reach.

No one in the heavyweight division can match Williams' record of 49 knockout victories.

Williams, also is aware of the nouncer Graham McNamee and sports writer Damon Runyon into its Hall of Fame tonight.

The association will hold its annual dinner in Salisbury at which it honors the top sportscaster and sports writer in the nation, and the best in each field in each state.

Augusta Course Good to Long Ball

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—With every drop of rain, the Augusta National Golf Course grew longer, and the field for the Masters got smaller.

"This course always favors the long hitter," said veteran Byron Nelson. "And with a soaking rain, it favors the man who hits the ball a long way in the air. That's Jack Nicklaus."

"The rain cuts the field of players with a good chance down to only four or five," said the even more veteran Gene Sarazen. "Nicklaus, and just a handful of others: Arnold Palmer, old Sam Snead, maybe. And among the youngsters, Rex Baxter and Jack Rule."

Nicklaus, the 24-year-old Golden Bear who last year was the youngest player ever to win the Masters, looked at the steady downpour Monday and admitted it didn't hurt chances to be the first player ever to repeat.

"This is just wonderful for me," he said.

Rain is expected to continue off and on through Wednesday according to the Weather Bureau, although it is hoped the course will be fit for practice rounds today. It was closed before noon Monday.

The tournament opens Thursday, and it seems highly unlikely there will be enough sunshine to put any roll back into the lush fairways.

Nicklaus was asked if he thought a wet course would turn the tournament into a Nicklaus-Palmer battle.

"I certainly hope so," Nicklaus said, "because that would mean that I would be right up there. Arnold is just about ready to start playing his best golf. He's hitting the ball as far as I've ever seen him hit it."

Palmer, the Masters winner in 1958, 1960 and 1962, agreed that he is driving in the Nicklaus range. "I'm happy about my driving, and I feel my irons are a little better," he said. "I've been playing pretty well, and I feel better coming into this tournament than I have for three or four years."

Cullenward Wins Writers Tourney

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—Nelson Cullenward of the San Francisco News-Call Bulletin won the National Golf Writers golf championship Monday with a 74 over the par-72 Dunes Golf and Beach Club course.

Cullenward, a 50-year-old left-hander, is outgoing president of the Golf Writers Association of America. He has won the California left-handers title 14 times.

Defending champion Dick Altman of Sports Illustrated, also a left-hander, shot a 79 over the 6,495-yard course.

Second in the title flight was Tom Michael of the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, with a 77.

importance of this fight. He is in line to fight either Ernie Terrell, Eddie Machen or Floyd Patterson if he gets by Fields.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

We have designs to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the Dodge Polara 500. You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Deeply-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Silt-to-silt carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point.

With the Polara 500 you aren't baked in on a certain engine. You can choose from a standard 318 cu. in. V8 up to a street-version of our wallowing, all-out 426 cu. in. Ramcharger V8. Compromise? Nope. We just feel that a freedom of choice is the surest road to your approval.

That's our way of doing business—giving you lots of car and lots of satisfaction at a price that's hard to quarrel with.

Your Dodge Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the point.
